

33 Lecture - CS101

Important Subjective

1. What are search operators?

Answer: Search operators are special characters or symbols that can be used to modify and refine a search query in order to retrieve more relevant results.

2. What is the use of quotation marks in search operators?

Answer: Quotation marks are used to search for an exact phrase or set of words.

3. What is the minus sign used for in search operators?

Answer: The minus sign is used to exclude specific terms from the search results.

4. What is the asterisk (*) used for in search operators?

Answer: The asterisk is used as a wildcard symbol to match any word or phrase in a search query.

5. What is the site operator used for in search operators?

Answer: The site operator is used to search within a specific website or domain.

6. What is the file type operator used for in search operators?

Answer: The file type operator is used to search for specific file types.

7. What is the in-title operator used for in search operators?

Answer: The in-title operator is used to search for specific words or phrases within the title of a web page.

8. What is the related operator used for in search operators?

Answer: The related operator is used to search for pages that are related to a specific website.

9. Can search operators be used in any search engine?

Answer: Yes, search operators can be used in various search engines, including Google, Bing,

Yahoo, and many others.

10. Why are search operators important in computer science?

Answer: Search operators are important in computer science because they enable individuals to retrieve relevant information quickly and efficiently, especially in a world where information overload is common.