

12 Lecture - ISL201

Important Mcqs

Which of the following is not considered a good etiquette in Islamic manners of meeting and talking?

- a) Smiling at the person you are talking to
- b) Maintaining eye contact with the person you are talking to
- c) Interrupting the person you are talking to
- d) Speaking politely and respectfully to the person you are talking to Answer: c) Interrupting the person you are talking to

Which of the following is a recommended action in Islamic manners of meeting and talking?

- a) Speaking loudly and aggressively to make your point clear
- b) Avoiding physical contact with the person you are talking to
- c) Offering your seat to someone who is older or has more authority than you
- d) Ignoring the person you are talking to and checking your phone

Answer: c) Offering your seat to someone who is older or has more authority than you

What should be the tone of the conversation according to Islamic manners of meeting and talking?

- a) Condescending and superior
- b) Arrogant and boastful
- c) Humble and respectful
- d) Argumentative and confrontational

Answer: c) Humble and respectful

Which of the following is not considered appropriate behavior in Islamic manners of meeting and talking?

- a) Speaking with a clear and audible voice
- b) Fidgeting or looking around while someone is speaking to you

- c) Giving the person you are speaking to your full attention
- d) Rushing the conversation and not allowing the person to finish speaking

Answer: d) Rushing the conversation and not allowing the person to finish speaking

According to Islamic manners of meeting and talking, what should you do if you accidentally offend someone with your words?

- a) Blame the other person for being too sensitive
- b) Defend your words and refuse to apologize
- c) Apologize sincerely and ask for forgiveness
- d) Ignore the situation and move on

Answer: c) Apologize sincerely and ask for forgiveness

Which of the following is not considered a good etiquette in Islamic manners of meeting and talking?

- a) Using kind and pleasant words
- b) Addressing the person with a respectful title or name
- c) Listening attentively to the person you are talking to
- d) Engaging in gossip or backbiting about others

Answer: d) Engaging in gossip or backbiting about others

According to Islamic manners of meeting and talking, what should you do if you arrive late for a meeting?

- a) Apologize for being late and offer an explanation
- b) Blame the traffic or other external factors
- c) Ignore the fact that you are late and continue as usual
- d) Refuse to attend the meeting altogether

Answer: a) Apologize for being late and offer an explanation

Which of the following is not considered appropriate behavior in Islamic manners of meeting and talking?

- a) Offering greetings and pleasantries before getting down to business

b) Using a calm and respectful tone of voice Answer: d) Engaging in gossip or backbiting about others According to Islamic manners of meeting and talking, what should you do if you arrive late for a meeting?

c) Insulting or belittling the person you are speaking to

d) Maintaining proper body language, such as sitting up straight and facing the person

Answer: c) Insulting or belittling the person you are speaking to

According to Islamic manners of meeting and talking, what should you do if you disagree with the person you are speaking to?

a) Interrupt them and argue your point forcefully

b) Ignore their point of view and refuse to consider it

c) Listen to their point of view and respond respectfully

d) Walk away from the conversation altogether

Answer: c) Listen to their point of view and respond respectfully